The Doctor Trance Hilarious Hypnosis Show

1:00 am, Potomac Lounge

The most fun you'll ever have with your eyes closed! The Doctor Trance Hilarious Hypnosis show is the perfect prescription for laughter, amazement, and audience participation. Leave your inhibitions at home. The Doctor Trance Hilarious Hypnosis show will take you on a "Vacation of the Mind." Watch your friends relax on a hot, tropical beach; then moments later be transported to a winter snow storm at the north pole while still wearing their swim suits! Cheer them on as they compete in a disco dance contest for a $5,000.00 cash prize, and then suddenly become ballerina dancers, complete with a pink tutu! See them evaluate an off-key vocalist (with really bad breath) as judges on the TV show "American Idol". Listen to them sing along to their favorite song while listening to it on their "walkman" shoe radio. Clap, sing, and cheer as they demonstrate their musical ability- on invisible instruments!

AFTER HOURS is FREE and open to all Towson University students with a valid One Card. For more info contact the Office of Student Activities at 410-704-3307.

Hip Hop Networking Expo

11:30 a.m. - 2:00 p.m., University Union- Potomac Lounge

Interact with local hip hop artists, organizations and companies. This is a great opportunity to talk face to face about the industry, the culture, and the music. This event is part of C.A.B.'s Hip Hop Week.

POEM-CEES

7:00 p.m. - 10:00 p.m., PAWS

Since 1998, POEM-CEES have combined rhyme, prose and community activism to emerge at the cutting edge of the vibrant Washington, DC Arts Movement. Naturalaw-dp & Black Picasso's talents were forged in the crucible of the spoken word movement; as founding members of the now defunct Generation 2000 poetry collective, they toured and performed at colleges and universities as well as recorded songs for BET & Emerge magazine's nationally distributed "Strength of a Woman" CD. Invitations to open for such acts as the Roots, the Fugees and the Last Poets led to the addition of DJ Stylus and the band. Thus the lean and mean POEM-CEES unit was formed. They have recently performed with Brand Nubian at the Ottobar and with Erykah Badu at the famed Lincoln Theater. This event is part of C.A.B.'s Hip Hop Week.

Wednesday, February 2

Coach Herman Boone, as portrayed by Denzel Washington in "Remember the Titans"
8:00 p.m., Chesapeake Rooms

In 1971, Herman Boone faced the challenge of a lifetime, and his inspirational story was captured in the Disney film Remember the Titans starring Academy Award-winner Denzel Washington.

Racial tensions ran high in Alexandria, Virginia, as three schools were newly integrated to form the T.C. Williams High School. It was from this union that the Titan football team was created. The former rivalries between the schools coupled with the strain between the black and white players resulted in a team that was far from united. Tensions escalated when Boone, assistant coach of the former T.C. Williams High School, was named head coach of the Titans, passing over Bill Yoast, the local favorite and successful head coach of the former white Hammond High. Yoast's supporters were angered by Boone's appointment, which was seen as a gesture of goodwill to the black community.

Remarkably, the two coaches were able to put aside their prejudices, and in doing so they unified their players to form a team whose common vision was to respect each other and win football games. At the same time, through the game of football, Boone and Yoast were able to help their small Virginian community put aside their intolerance and join together to support their children. The Titans became one of the best teams in Virginia, compiling a 13-0 record and went on to win the state championship. Sponsored by the Office of Student Activities and in honor of Black History Month.

Art Department Lecture Series

Paper: Mapping Dimensional Terrains In 2005

Lecture: University Union, Chesapeake Room; 7 p.m.

Workshop: Center For the Arts Room 217; 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Lecture: Helen Frederick, Director of Pyramid Atlantic Art Center and Associate Professor, George Mason University, will connect the East and the West, as related to traditional and contemporary works in paper. She will explore ways to recycle, mold, suspend and illuminate paper as a substance from the point of view of an artist who is involved in the historical and collaborative aspects of making paper, prints and three-dimensional objects. The lecture will explore many artists' work and discuss what attributes of paper have captured their imagination for installations and personal dimensional works, among other applications.

Workshop: "A Cognitive Approach to Making Paper for Three Dimensional forms"

This workshop is seen as shared exploration between the participants to mine ideas for dimensional paper sculptures. Sheet forming with aspects of pulp painting, watermarking and the use of over beaten fibers will be explored. This will be followed by a demonstration of forming sheets over several armature forms (wire and bamboo) or layering them into negative molds. Discussion and examples of types of papers and ways these papers can be inventively used in the three dimensional forms will be incorporated in the session (instructor will bring various examples). For information and registration on attending the workshop call 410-704-2804. Admission to the lecture is free.

Towson University Symphony Orchestra

Phillip Collistor, director, music and stage director

Leneida Crawford, assistant director

Mark McCoy, conductor and co-music director

R. Timothy McReynolds, piano and assistant music director

Two of the most popular one act comedic operas ever composed are paired together and presented fully staged with orchestra. The Old Maid and the Thief by Gian Carlo Menotti tells the story of an aging spinster, Miss Todd, and her maid, Laetitia who are visited one evening

by a drifter, Bob. The two women cannot resist his charm and both fall in love with him, nearly on sight. Invited to stay the night, Bob is soon quite comfortable living in Miss Todd's house for weeks on end until a series of mistaken identities has him wrongly accused of being an escaped convict. Through a strange twist of fate, it is Miss Todd who ends up the thief and Laetitia and Bob who have the last laugh. A comic chamber opera in one act, The Wandering Scholar by Gustav Holst, follows the day in the life of a 12th century housewife. While her husband is away, Alison is visited by the local priest who is looking for a bit more than a confession and a wandering scholar who foils her plans. Presented by special arrangement with G. Schirmer Inc. Tickets: $14 general, $12 seniors, faculty and staff; $8 students with ID, $5 children under 12

Towson University Spring Speaker Series presents:

Martin Luther King, III

8:00 p.m., Chesapeake Rooms

Martin Luther King, III, the eldest son of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., has taken the torch lit by his father and continued the quest for equality and justice for all people. Since early adulthood, he has motivated audiences around the world with his poignant messages of hope and responsibility. His most popular message is “The Dream Deferred,” an examination of the goals of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. in today's society. His vision of a positive future built upon the principles taught by his father has touched thousands from Mozambique to Mississippi.

A human rights advocate, community activist, and political leader, Mr. King has been actively involved in significant policy initiatives to maintain the fair and equitable treatment of citizens at home and abroad. His commitment to worldwide humanitarian concerns was exemplified in the late 1970's when he was asked to represent President Jimmy Carter in two official delegations to promote peace in foreign countries. Later, in 1984, as a member of the Board of Directors of the Martin Luther King, Jr. Center for Nonviolent Social Change, Mr. King ventured to five poverty and drought-stricken African nations on a fact-finding tour. The outcome of the tour was the creation of the Africa Initiative, a program developed to end starvation in Africa. In the 1980's, he turned his attention and his action to the injustices of South Africa and the freedom of Nelson Mandela; while in the 1990's he has addressed the moral and political dilemmas of third-world nations such as Haiti and Nigeria. In 1996, he toured Great Britain, where he celebrated Black History Month and shared the King vision of justice and equality for all. Sponsored by the Integrated Programming Council.

Towson University Spring Speaker Series presents: Bill Rancic, "The Apprentice"

8:00 p.m., Chesapeake Rooms

William "Bill" Rancic founded cigarsaroundtheworld.com eight years ago in a 400 sq. ft. studio apartment. Today it is a thriving multi-million dollar national operation. The son of educators, he is a true entrepreneur, paying his way through college by starting a boat wash and wax business in the Chicago area. He is also an adventure junkie. When he is not making business deals he enjoys skydiving and scuba diving. In addition to his cigar company, Bill also develops real estate and speaks at universities and businesses around the country. An estimated 27.6 million viewers tuned in to watch Trump say, "You're hired!" to Bill Rancic on NBC's "The Apprentice." In his new book and CD, "You're Hired" How to succeed in life and business from the Winner of The Apprentice, Bill discusses the secret for success in his personal and professional life.

Art Department Lecture Series

Hacking Big Brother: Media Artists Attack Surveillance Culture

7:00 p.m., University Union Chesapeake Rooms

Tiffany Holmes, guest lecturer

Tiffany Holmes's lecture will investigate how and why visual artists have subverted traditional modes of surveillance for creative and critical discourse. Questions of modernism, postmodernism, surveillance, transparency, cyberspace, and changes in the built environment since the end of WWII will be investigated through a survey of contemporary media artists using techniques such as video tracking, audio monitoring, data tagging, and web cameras to make their work. The artist will discuss her own work in the context of the larger genre of artists who expose, resist, critique, and in some cases, hack Big Brother culture. The artists and collectives to be discussed include: the Bureau of Inverse Technology, Critical Art Ensemble, Julia Scher, Jennifer Ringley (JenniCam), Steve Mann, David Rokeby, the Surveillance Camera Players, and many more. Admission is free and open to the public.

Looking For Lulu

8:00 p.m., Baltimore Theatre Project

45 West Preston Street

Baltimore, MD 21201

Michelle Milne, MFA in Theater final project

Looking for Lulu incorporates song, story and strong physicality as it moves from humor to insight and back again. Traveling through a geographical maze that includes the Mennonite homes of Indiana and the karaoke bars of Tokyo. Looking for Lulu examines the role of escape in our lives, both the things we run from and the things we run to. It is a fast-paced, playful look at the way we negotiate growing up and facing (or avoiding) the difficulties of life. Tickets: $16 general public; $11 students and seniors.

Voice Verses

Towson University Chorale & Towson University Choral Society
Paul Rardin, director

8:15 p.m., Harold J. Kaplan Concert Hall, Center for the Arts

The Towson University choirs celebrate contemporary American composers and their settings of great poetry. Featured compositions include John Corigliano's Fern Hill (two poems by Dylan Thomas), Samuel Barber's Reincarnations (James Stephens), Cary John Franklin's The Uncertainty of the Poet (Wendy Cope), Libby Larsen's A Creeley Collection (Robert Creeley), and Halsey Stevens' Go Lovely Rose (Edmund Waller). The music beautifully captures the reminiscence, passion, cleverness, longing and whimsy of these poems and bears a quintessentially American sound.
